

Cloned Cows
January 17, 2008

Recently, the federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) released its final Risk Assessment on meat and milk from cloned animals, reiterating the safety of these foods.

While we are reassured that the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has affirmed the safety of food products from cloned animals, we support the U.S. Department of Agriculture's decision to keep in place the voluntary moratorium on milk and meat from cloned animals entering the food supply.

Hilmar Cheese Company supports the voluntary prohibition on milk from cloned cows entering the food supply and accordingly we do not accept milk from cloned cows.